The New Scooby-Doo Movies

The New Scooby-Doo Movies is a humorous animated mystery-comedy television series produced by Hanna-Barbera for CBS. It is the second television series in the Scooby-Doo franchise, and follows the first incarnation, Scooby-Doo, Where Are You!. The series premiered on September 14, 1972, and aired on October 21, 1972, making the first season an 8-episode run. The second season premiered on September 15, 1973, and ran for 16 episodes, before ending on December 8, 1973.

Aside from doubling the length of each episode, The New Scooby-Doo Movies differed from its predecessor in the addition of a crossover, a recurring secret guest star who assists Scooby and crew with solving the mystery, and a celebrity guest star who appears as themselves. Each episode was directed by Hanna-Barbera veteran Oscar Dufau, who had previously worked on the shorts Mr. Jinks and The Quick Draw McGraw Show. Many of the voice actors also reprised roles they had voiced previously in the shorts, and The New Scooby-Gang was featured and ran on two half-hour specials. The CBS Network Cartoon Express began running The New Shorts in their original broadcast beginning in September* date. Also new voices as Hanna- workings and Scooby-Doo.

In total, The New Scooby-Doo Movies began airing on the Cartoon Broadcasting episodes 1972. Comedy Network and Boomerang. Like many cartoon shows created by Hanna-Barbera at the time, the series was rerun in syndication for the first time. By the first season of the series was rebranded as Hanna-Barbera's team studio in Los Angeles, while the second season was produced at their newly formed Sherman Oaks, CA studio.
